Romulus students raft Pennsylvania river rapids

Nineteen eighth graders at Romulus Junior High School are only one week older but a lot wiser after a three-day field trip which included a 15 mile paddle down the Youghiogheny River in Pennsylvania in an 8-foot rubber raft.

Under the experienced direction of Bill Thomas, outdoor education instructor, one week ago Thursday these adventurous students embarked on a seven hour, 342 mile journey. They were headed to the town of Boswell, Penn., Thomas' hometown. The countryside boasts small towns surrounded by big farms and nestled in rolling hills with raging rivers.

"We left with 19 students and came home with 19," joked Thomas who added the trip would provide students with a stimulating and challenging experience they would remember most their lives. The trip cost each student $70.

"The area is rich in historic sites," Thomas explained. "Before we began journey down the river on Friday, we visited Fort Hill, a site of two Indian villages and burial grounds located on an immense mound built in prehistoric times."

"We started on the river about 10 a.m. and paddled to our lunch destination at a site known for centuries by the Indians as the "great crossing." The kids really enjoyed themselves. After the rafting trip, with no accidents or injuries, maybe an occasional soaker, we returned to camp at Boswell. On the way, we crossed Mt. Davis, the highest point in Pennsylvania at 3213 feet, stopped at the Jersey Church, the oldest Protestant church west of the Allegheny Mountains, organized in 1775 and visited a modern coal mining operation. "On Saturday, before heading for home, we toured Fort Ligonier, a restored site with a museum originally built and occupied to defend the eastern approach to the Ohio River," noted Thomas.

Thomas' father welcomed the group with a "Welcome to Pennsylvania" cake and hotdogs. "I told my dad to figure three hotdogs for each kid. He thought different and grilled about three pounds per kid," said Thomas with a laugh.

"Since this mountainous area of southwest Pennsylvania is sparsely populated, it abounds in wildlife. One morning, a doe and her fawn came within three yards of our sleeping bags. We saw at least seven deer, four wild turkey and a bobcat screamed at us on Thursday night," recalled Thomas.

He added that the steep mountains provide an excellent testing ground for several Michigan companies including Kelsey-Hayes who test brake and transmissions on the steep grades.

The eighth-graders slept stone cabins one night and a church the next night.

"The river had lots of rapids but waves were no more than two or three feet high. The only thing we didn't see which we planned was the covered bridge. Time was limited and we didn't sit still very long. One stranger during a visit to a restaurant said he thought it was great that students and their teachers learn first hand what they are taught in textbooks. I think it was a great experience to share with these kids," he concluded.

City to permit garage sales

Those nickel and dime items for sale at your next garage sale had better total at least $5 or you haven't made any money.

Members of the Romulus City Council recently approved a permit fee of $5 for each garage sale, effective immediately.

At the request of numerous residents and council members, I have made some minor changes in this ordinance," said Steve Banko, ordinance director who attempted to have a similar ordinance approved previously.

"I can not stress enough the point that this city needs some type of regulation concerning garage sales. As it stands now, we have none. The intent of this ordinance is not to prohibit but to regulate," Banko stressed.

He stated earlier that during the peak of summer and the garage sale season, "There are 50 to 100 garage sales happening on any given weekend."

Non-regulated garage sales annoy citizens and cause traffic congestion in residential areas, according to Banko. The ordinance intends to prohibit the infringement of any businesses by regulating the term and frequency of garage sales, so as not to disturb or disrupt the residential environment of the area, according to the ordinance.

Sales covered by the ordinance include: lawn, yard, patio, attic, room and rummage. Only personal property can be offered for sale.

Permits for garage sales must be obtained from the city clerk's office at least five days before the proposed sale and posted on the premises during the sale.

The ordinance restricts the number of garage sales to three per location per year. The sale can be conducted only during daylight hours for no more than three consecutive days.

Only four signs are permitted to advertise the sale: two, no more than 4-square feet signs, on the garage sale site and two directional signs, no more than 2-square feet, elsewhere. These require the written permission from the private property owner. The signs are prohibited on public property. Signs can be posted no sooner than two days before the sale.

Persons found to violate the ordinance are subject to a fine of not more than $500 and/or imprisonment not to exceed 90 days.

Walkin' and wheelin'

Romulus residents concerned about world hunger began an 11 mile journey on foot and by wheels from Community United Methodist in Romulus to St. Anthony's in Belleville. Other local churches which participated were St. Aloysius and Mt. Olive Baptist of Romulus and Belleville Presbyterian, Trinity Episcopal and First United Methodist of Belleville. The happy hoofers walked for CROP, an international organization dedicated to fight world hunger. This will be the fourth year for the walk which has earned more than $11,000 for the cause. "We want to bring attention to the world hunger problem. We are making a statement," said Margery Schleicher, pastor of Community United Methodist Church. ANP photo by Bob Denys

Romulus homecoming begins

Mayor takes determination to Lansing

By BOB DENYS
ANP Staff Writer

Romulus Mayor Beverly McAnally is a determined woman. So determined in fact, that last week she took one of her city issues to Lansing in an effort to make state officials understand her concerns.

What McAnally wants is jobs – and job training for the residents of her community. Her efforts, along with those of the Romulus City Council members, have not gone unnoticed at the state level.

Efforts to provide jobs and job training in Romulus have included the teaming up of the city with the Downriver Community Conference, where more and more concentration has been placed on job training and employment. Last week, McAnally testified before the Governor's Blue Ribbon Commission on Job Training and tax abatements in Lansing as a result of that involvement.

Director of the Michigan Department of Social Services Agnes Mansour and President of Eastern Michigan University John Porter also spoke before the commission members.

"They were receptive to what I said," noted McAnally. "Much of the talk centered around tax abatements and what the city does with that money. The overall goal of the discussions was to get people off welfare roles and start contributing to society. Much concern was expressed about their personal growth as well."

She explained that in the Romulus School System specialized training is available in many areas. "We have initiated training with the 'hospitality industry.'" This was developed and expanded through the DCC. The commission appeared very interested," she stated.

Although tax abatements provide initial employment for area residents and taxes are not recognized for several years, most government officials are unclear as to who receives the real advantages. Many school systems feel they are at a distinct disadvantage for not receiving those abated taxes, according to the McAnally.

As far as tax abatements were concerned, "We must consider the workforce. We don't always have to give a tax abatement or renew one for a second time. But we do want to assist industry in their decision to locate in Romulus. The entire legal question of tax abatements is still very new," McAnally concluded.

WESTLAND—Some of the most prestigious high school marching bands in the state will converge on the John Glenn High School football field at 7 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 18 for a marching band competition.

Admission is $3 for adults, $1 for students and free for senior citizens with identification.

Sponsored by the John Glenn Band and Orchestra Boosters, the competition will be at the school, 36455 Marquette Road, east of Newburgh, Westland.

Teen pregnancy is topic

INKSTER—Teen pregnancy and ways to reduce the infant mortality rate will be the topics of a conference Saturday, Oct. 18 at the Inkster Recreation Complex, 2025 Middlebelt Road, north of Michigan Avenue. The program is from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Sponsored by the Wayne County Health Department, the new project concentrates on peer counseling and role modeling in the communities of Inkster, River Rouge, Ecorse and Highland Park where the highest rate of infant mortality has been detected, according to Wayne County officials.

Free of charge, the conference is directed toward teens between the ages of 12 and 17. A luncheon and prizes will also be given.

Airport gets funding

ROMULUS—Construction projects at the Detroit Metropolitan Airport will receive an additional million dollars soon thanks to the availability of federal monies, Wayne County officials announced last week.

According to County Executive William Lucas, "The Federal Aviation Administration advised us that $1,180,308 is available to enhance our Capitol Improvement Plan at Metro Airport."

County officials reported that the extra funds will be applied to airfield projects at the Romulus-based airport.

Stifle yourself, Coleman

Somehow, we find it difficult to picture the members of the Belleville Area Intermediate Study Club as armed troublemakers. It is equally impossible to attempt to visualize, say, the members of the Westland Pinochle Club as threats to the welfare of the community, or the men of the Inkster Optimists Club as racist terrorists who strike fear into the hearts of innocent citizens.

No, not by any means, and the recent suggestion of Detroit Mayor Coleman Young that the actions of suburban residents prompt his constituents to demand guns is every bit as ludicrous as accusing the St. Aloysius Altar Society of bombing Libya.

We cannot fathom the Canton Kitchen Band members holding up liquor stores--nor do we ever expect to see the toddlers at library storyhour dealing in controlled substances (unless it might be jelly beans).

To imply that the problems in the city of Detroit can be in any way blamed on our community, on our residents or the people that live and work within our boundaries is the ultimate insult to the intelligence of us all. We are fortunate enough to live in areas, all of us, wherein crime is news, it is not the everyday occurrence it is in Detroit.

People have often questioned the amount of crime that is reported on our pages and the reason it is there. It is reported because it is news--but we hope we are also bringing our communities the news of the church bazaars, the scholarship students, the Scout car washes and the high school homecoming games that happen here.

Crime is news here, and people here find such out-of-the-ordinary happenings interesting and noteworthy. They expect the local newspaper to report such instances, and to follow up on these crimes and report the outcome of police investigations.

Perhaps it is time for each of us to take a look around at the area in which we live. Look at our cities and townships, and you will find a great deal to be proud of and to smile about. Indeed, we do have crime. Just last month, a man was preying on senior citizens in their homes and threatening them during daylight robberies. That crime wave made news in our communities, and the man who perpetrated those robberies was apprehended by police with the help of an alert local citizen who took time to get involved. Can Young say the same in his town?

To place the fault for gun use and possession in the city of Detroit anywhere but in that same city is an exercise in the basest form of rationalization. How many 11-year-old boys have been killed in our area for a silk shirt? How many children have died in shootings on our streets? How many drug dens are there operating in your neighborhood as you read this?

Do each of your neighbors carry a gun? Does your neighborhood 7-11 have barred windows and an armed guard? Do you fear every day that your child or grandchild may not come home from school? We don't think so.

Our area has problems, and crime, and certainly our share of less-than-ideal citizens and neighbors. We have our quota of those who do not adhere to the law, we have poverty, crime, drugs and violent death...but we are in no way responsible for the death that lurks on nearly every street and in almost every home in the city of Detroit. Our crime is our own. We have police departments in our cities with local officials and administrators who care enough to serve their respective municipalities for far less than the $115,000 per year paid to Mr. Young. It appears they do a better job, and have the good form not to blame others for less than desirable incidents. Rather, they use their energy in efforts to correct the situations.

Can you picture Gene "Santa" Reeves brandishing an umbrella in an attempt to intimidate some poor, innocent Detroit citizen? Or perhaps our Millie Farrell striking terror in the soul of a drug dealer with her rolled-up copy of the Wayne Eagle? What would a woman like Doris Kelley do to Young's protected gun toters? Threaten to take notes?

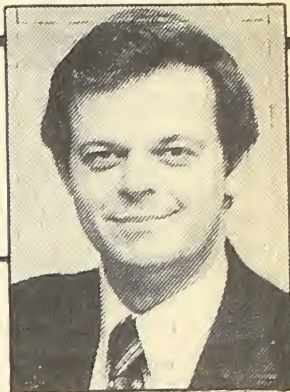

The people mentioned are of the finest character with goodness that shines from them. Are they the people Young speaks of?

No, Mr. Young, you have painted these suburbs and our citizens with the wrong brush. This is an area of fine people, with a sincere desire to keep the community as whole and good as possible for all involved.

We're not perfect, Mr. Young, but apparently we're doing a hell of a lot better than you.

The rabbit won't multiply

Recently, I have been enthralled by the notion that modern videotechnology has finally come to my rescue. You see, in my residence the television picture via conventional means is comparable to, oh let's say, that which Attila the Hun received while viewing his own reflection in the pond where he watered his horse.

Okay, so here I am looking through a magazine and low and behold, but what do I see, but a picture of the cutest rabbit you ever did see. Well folks, this rabbit is in this ad to symbolize just how magnificent are the reproductive qualities of this technological breakthrough called... "The Rabbit".

Now friends, upon seeing this, I think that I have died and gone to heaven. La Rabit has qualities and capabilities little ole' me has never even thought about. This apparati is so wonderful...well let's just say it's the Ginsu knife of the 80s, okay?

Now how can I get one of these terrific little critters? A list of dealers was below the ad, but I was not able to take the time to search through the list for the "one nearest you" and write it down, but I knew I would see them advertised locally.

I didn't...until one day, while visiting my local video store, there it was...a picture of my furry little friend.

His little nose seemed to be twitching at me, as if to say "Davie, take me home, and I'll be your pal. I'll reproduce for you a television picture that will make you think you've gone to bunny heaven."

Having three televisions at home, and no cable, I have been for some time now a prisoner of bad reception and whatever meager selection of video store movies were available. Lately there have been times when I almost stooped so low (get thee behind me Satan) as to check out "Goofy and Pluto Go Grocery Shopping" as everything else released after 1936 was already rented.

So, what else was I to do, I was getting desperate. We all have needs, but one of mine does not have a big nose, long black ears and wear a funny hat.

I gave in. I called the cable company and with lightning speed they managed to appear to hook up our set in only three short weeks. In a moment of weakness in occurred to me that no matter how sincere those little rabbit eyes were, looking back at me in those ads, maybe I should let the folks who do this type of work all the time handle the whole thing and hook up all three sets.

"Where is your spirit of adventure old man," I said to myself. So when the cable folks said they would have to make me wait a few more short weeks for the hook up of the other two sets, I knew I just bought myself a prolific little rabbit.

Now, as my wife often reminds me, there are good ideas that work, and there are good ideas that don't. As of this moment it would appear that this is one of the latter.

First of all, the living room television is in the center of a three-piece wall unit. All six, count them, six, of the electrical power cords that make this sucker light up have to pass through a hole approximately one-half inch in diameter conveniently located behind the center section where I have the television located. The VCR has been by the TV in the bedroom and to make my little fuzzy friend do his stuff that must be moved to the living room.

Park patrol demanded

To the editor:

On the evening of Thursday, Sept. 18, 1986 at 5:30 p.m., I took my children to Victory Park to play on the equipment. When we parked at the park my children, who had been eager to play on the spiral slide, did not want to get out of the car because a group of about 15 teenage boys was sitting in the gazebo and another five at a nearby picnic table.

I observed that none of these boys looked to be 18 years of age or older yet they were openly drinking beer and smoking in the park. They had strung a wire about neck-high from the gazebo to a tree near the table with roach clips hanging from it. They were also busily gouging graffiti into the table.

While the city council, manager, downtown development planning board and mayor are trying to raise the image of our city, these teenagers are having an opposite effect. The park between the hours of 2 p.m. and 9 p.m. needs patrolling for these rather obvious reasons:

1. To keep the rules concerning the park enforced or the rules will become useless and ignored.
2. To keep the park an attraction to the city and not a detraction.
3. To keep destruction down.
4. To keep possible drug traffic out of the park.

The park does not need anyone stationed in it BUT it does need regular random patrolling to insure its use as a park and not as a boys' club.

Little store is missed

To the editor:

Belleville Area has a new super shopping center in the new A&P located in the township. As a good cook, I have shopped there and found it very spectaclular. Anything and everything you could ever want for the preparation of any type of food is there, if you have the time to locate where it is in the store. It is a great asset to our community.

However, as a resident of our little City of Belleville for 30 years, and a manager of a business here for 10 years, I feel a big loss in our town.

I miss the closeness I had with the lovely employees from the old store, the cheery wave in the morning, the individual treatment they gave their customers, and just being able to run in for bread and milk in our own neighborhood store. Now all I see when I look across the street is an empty store, already looking shabby, with the papers falling off the windows, unpainted walls and un-mown grass, similar to the run down warehouses in Detroit.

I see, and hear, from the senior citizens waiting for the promised shuttle bus which does not exist. I feel we in the city have suffered a great loss for what the township has gained. We miss you, little A&P.

More praise for Willett

To the Editor:

I wish to thank you for your new positive article entitled, "To Your Good Health".

It is refreshing indeed to find someone who seeks basic truths, who looks at cause and not symptoms. In particular, I liked what you said about the gift of life and the natural order of things.

Thanks also for saying something nice about chiropractic and how it allows the body to heal itself. That the real purpose of Chiropractic is not just sore backs and stiff necks.

I believe life is a sacred treasure to be cared for and preserved just as you stated. Again, thank you very much and I hope you write many more articles like this one.

Intermediate School District celebrates 25 years

By VALERIE A. FOSTER
ANP Staff Writer

The Wayne County Intermediate School District will be celebrating its 25th Anniversary with a special olympics ceremony from 9 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. Friday Oct. 17 at the Wayne Memorial High School in Wayne.

Opening ceremonies will include an olympic-style assignment of team colors, a marching band and a 500-balloon launch. There will also be wheelchair races, segmental rolling and frisbee throwing for the 350 students participating from Wayne County Intermediate School District directly operated special education centers. Judges will evaluate distance, timing, accuracy and accumulation of points by teams. Prizes will acknowledge first, second and third place winners, as well as participants.

The Wayne County Intermediate School District is not a standard school district, but a support link to all schools in Wayne County, according to Jeannine Cronkhite, public relations officer for the district. "It provides services to the schools in Wayne County and acts as a link between the state department of education and the county school districts."

Wayne County Intermediate School District is one of 57 districts in the state. There are 34 school districts within Wayne County, ranking it largest in the state and fifth largest in the nation. The district as it exists now was created in 1961 by Public Act 190, which created the district-type school system. Some of the services it provides are counting pupil enrollment, providing workshops for most subject matter, offering workshops for teachers and administrators, conducting anti-drug programs and adult education and literacy programs. It also operates some special education centers and centers for the mentally disabled. There is also one school for teenaged parents which is located in Lincoln Park.

All events at the special olympic celebration will occur at the school track and field area. If adverse weather occurs, the events will be in the indoor gym. The event is free. For more information, contact the Wayne County Intermediate School District at 927-7890.

The Wayne County Intermediate School District has been serving local school districts since 1962.

The Michigan House of Representatives has taken further action on a bill which would give aged residents of nursing homes and other facilities a more powerful advocate. The House Committee on Senior Citizens and Aging has approved a proposal which would establish an effective "long-term care ombudsman" program.

If the bill is approved by the full-state House and Senate, the ombudsman and her representatives would have full power to enter a facility to inspect operations or investigate complaints.

An ombudsman is a government official who investigates citizen complaints and solves problems. A long-term care ombudsman program is designed to monitor the quality of care in facilities such as adult foster care homes, homes for the aged and nursing homes. The state ombudsman, through her staff and volunteers, also responds to complaints about treatment and facilities. In general, the long-term care ombudsman protects the rights of older individuals who reside in these settings.

It seems I forgot that the wall units were attached and so when I tried to move the end unit I sort of accidentally almost ripped one side of the center section clean off. Okay, so I made a little mistake. Nobody is perfect.

About four hours into this quick-as-a-bunny project, about midnight I figure it was, I had everything off the two sections of shelving, the living room looked like Hiroshima, but I had managed to remove the plugs from the wall, pull them back through the half-inch hole, rethread all the necessary wires back through, plug them in and voila! I was now ready to begin surveying the damage and nursing the wounded.

Now, the wire through which this miracle of procreation takes place, or is supposed to, has the consistency of fat thread. Carefully following the directions, I concealed this wondrous electronic membrane along baseboards, over doorways and under carpeting. At last, I connected the other end to, well let's call it the son of rabbit, atop my second television. Friends, it didn't work. I concluded that the rabbit must have died.

But wait . . . an idea. Quickly I switched the second set to "cable." As I started down through the channels, the first several stations looked great, but then the signal quickly faded to the same quality I have sadly become accustomed to.

Well, at least the shelves are back in place; the wires are all attached to the power source and everything there is working . . . well, everything but the stereo tuner which has obviously become unplugged.

So here we are. So far the score is Rabbits, $120.54, Electronic Wizard, 0. I retired in defeat.

The next evening with my two trusted assistants, we set out to solve all problems. But first, we decided to move the couch. Five hours later, we finished moving furniture and hadn't gotten to chasing the elusive hare.

Today my daughter is unhappy because her television is not connected to cable, the dogs are mad because they no longer have music from the stereo to soothe their savage instincts while we are away, my wife got her furniture moved - but is very, very tired of my late-night electrical experiments. And the rabbit? Well, let's just say, this bunny layed an egg.

Hugh Hefner, where are you when I need you?

Uptown buying hits local downtowns

By RAY DAY
ANP News Editor

The rich life. Stretch limos. Knuckle-to-knuckle diamond rings. Furs, fashions and art. All saved for those in the northern suburbs and cities ending in the word "point."

Or, so it used to be.

Uptown buying is hitting home these days with the local downtown scene gearing up for a new wave of upper-scale consumers.

Unlike the early days of the 1980s when an economic depression ransacked the area and made the bargain basement a common word, wealth and the way of life which goes with it have invaded the western Wayne County suburbs, a trend that is perhaps unsurpassed in this decade.

One local retailer called the local buying habits in the last few years "phenomenal" citing a "new upper middle-class" as the reason for the economic turnaround.

"If I had only five markets to invest in today, I would put everything in Belleville, Ypsilanti, Livonia, Garden City and Westland," he said. "These are the areas where these 'upper-scale' buyers are coming from."

Not new to the area, those "upper-scale buyers" the businessman pointed to are the 25- to 45-year-old residents who are sitting comfortably on better times in their careers with incomes of at least $40,000 annually and who are expecting even better days to follow.

Darren Byrnes moved from Belleville a few years ago seeking fame and fortune in Houston, Texas. And he found it. Just last Monday, in the made-for-TV movie, "Adam: His Song Continues," Byrnes portrayed a expectant father.

He has also appeared in many commercials and several other movies including, "They Still Call Me Bruce." He attributes these roles to being in the right place and knowing someone. "I just fell into them," he said.

Darren Byrnes shines by himself as the star of his own national television music video show, "The Danger Zone." The program is broadcast on Hit Video USA, a national 24-hour music network based in Houston. Today, via satellite, the program is viewed around the world.

As an accomplished musician, Byrnes projects warmth, humor and experience into his interviews with music celebrities on "The Danger Zone." Before his career in music ever began, he played lead guitar in several local bands. He still writes music and is ready "to cut an album."

All this from a young man who grew up on Elwell Road outside of town in an A-frame house with one-acre of land. He attended St. Anthony's grade school and Belleville Junior High School. Six of the family's seven children graduated from Belleville High School. His family has since moved to Grand Rapids. Byrnes also attended Eastern Michigan University for three years and studied pre-law.

ASSOCIATED NEWSPAPERS: Did your small town background prepare you for your present success?

BYRNES: I really think so. I liked Belleville and the country atmosphere. It was a great place to grow up. I walked across two farmer's fields to high school. The guy across the street raised sheep and pigs.

For the most part, I tell people I'm from the Detroit area. But you'd be surprised how many people from Belleville are down here. I do have to say, it's great down here but sometimes it's too hot. The temperature today is 94. What I miss most about Belleville is the lake and the city's Fourth of July celebration. Those were some fun times. I miss the blue skies from up north. They don't get that way down here.

My music career began when I started to play with a band called "Eenjam" while at Belleville Junior High. I worked at Draw-tite, a local trailer hitch company.

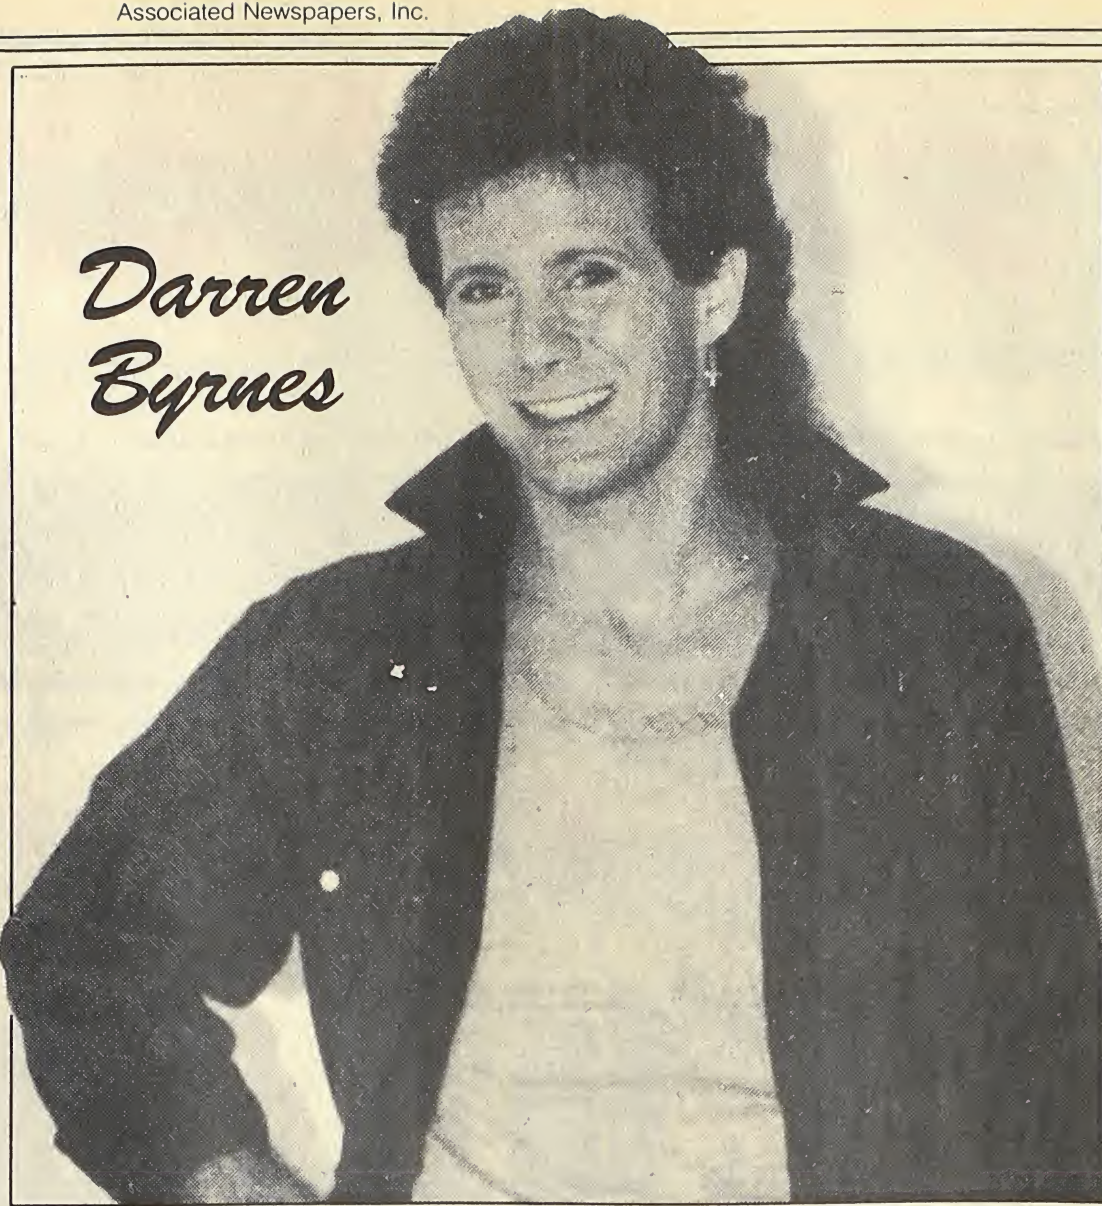

ANP: And the rest is music history?

BYRNES: Not quite. I enrolled at Eastern Michigan University in their pre-law program. In my third year, the opportunity came to join the band, "Flirt." I played lead guitar. This was during the "punk" era and many record companies flocked to the Detroit area because that's where that scene was happening. They could find a lot of bands who would work cheap. We were one of them. "Flirt" cut a 45 rpm record that didn't do too bad. We broke even and that's better than losing.

After about a year, I split for Houston. At the time, I thought it would be a good spring board for my career. I joined a band called "The One" and we cut another record. More and more, Houston is becoming a center for the music and movie industry.

ANP: So how did you get hooked up with Hit Video USA?

BYRNES: I answered an ad in the local paper, the Houston Post. They were seeking auditions for the video program. I was one of 2,000 applicants.

Darren Byrnes

They called back 500 and I was one of them. There were two auditions and I ended up with the late Saturday night spot.

After one week, maybe they were impressed enough to expand that to five days per week. That was Dec. 18, 1985.

The program is on regular network television in Houston, channel 5. Since then, the program is broadcast via satellite on cable and can be seen in Michigan.

ANP: How is your program different from music video format already on MTV?

BYRNES: "The Danger Zone" is an alternative to MTV. Our program is a little softer than MTV, a little more middle-of-the-road. It's more top-40 music and less of the album oriented rock-and-roll. During my program, we air more of the new and innovative stuff.

ANP: Do you miss anything else about Michigan?

BYRNES: Sensible drivers! Compared with down here Michigan drivers are not bad. In Houston, people drive real fast on the main streets and slow on the freeways. People from California drive fast all the time and the people from New Jersey never drove before. And a lot of other foreign people know how to drive but they can't read the signs.

One thing I attribute to my upbringing near Detroit, I always buy American made cars. I drive a Camaro and my next car will be a Cadillac. Maybe if I get a garage full of American cars I would buy foreign. Maybe.

Losens have a new baby boy

John Jr. and Susette Losen of Wabash, Belleville, became the proud parents of a baby boy, Andrew James, Sept. 1 at Beyer Memorial Hospital in Ypsilanti.

The infant weighed in at 7 pounds, 14 ounces on his Labor Day birth.

He is the new grandson of the Rev. John and Vesta Losen Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Smith of Belleville and Joseph Sherry of Taylor; and the new great-grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Vern Feltman of Dearborn Heights, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Smith of Detroit, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Losen of Lansing and Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Bracy of Charlotte, N.C.

Fashions personalized

Judy Knowlson admits that her clothing store in Canton Township isn't the traditional women's store with 50 racks and three designs and sizes ranging from 4 to 40, making it somewhat of a "ritzy" store by classification.

However ritzy one may call the store though, Knowlson won't accept stories that her store is only for the rich.

The owner of Ellen's Fashions, Knowlson has been operating the personalized-service and custom-fit clothing store in the area for about one year now. A computer operator and dressmaker by trade, Knowlson is hoping that the up-scale atmosphere of the store will attract the local women who might not be able to afford the high-price fashion shops located to the north.

"The whole idea behind the store is to provide fashions with a feminine flair. We do the total concept for women," said Knowlson. "We carry designer clothing . . . but, I wouldn't want to frighten away the woman who wanted a dress for less than $100."

Oriented toward women's after-6 clothing, informal weddings, second marriages and clothing for a night on the town, the designs at Ellen's Fashions come with a price. A gown from the Dynasty or Nolan Miller collection could have a $440-$600 price tag attached. Sweater sets can be had for a mere $550, and a few of the dresses top out just above $70.

"The customers who come here are generally here because they have been discouraged somewhere else," Knowlson explained. "We offer the feminine fashions and the personal service. But I would say we are comparable and sometimes lower than some of the department store prices."

Women entering the store are greeted by a salesperson who tries to help the ladies select gowns and outfits which will best accent the individual body. Once the "perfect" design is chosen, custom tailoring is included, along with a huge dose of pampering and personalized customer service.

On the day of the big event, the dress buyer is encouraged to return to the store for a makeup application, one that will complement the dress and accent the entire look, according to Knowlson.

"I can't say the customer is paying extra for their personalized service. The women like the relaxed atmosphere here, they like the price and they love the service," Knowlson said. "These are things which the women aren't finding anywhere else."

Glitter

Big is better for most

Bigger is better at Leo's Jewelers in Wayne which recently underwent a complete renovation and remodeling to highlight a new "upper-scale" atmosphere, according to the store general manager.

Many of the larger gemstones at the store have been attracting widespread interest. In addition, color is playing an almost equal role in jewelry buying with consumers wanting their glitter and glass to match their wardrobe for that special night on the town.

"We have always been for the mass market. We have been neglecting the designer features. Now we're going to concentrate on them 100 percent," said a spokesperson for the store. "I would say 25 percent of our customers are up-scale buyers. These people are very knowledgeable, and they want the best."

Awaiting the wave of "up-scale" buyers flocking into the store are a collection of designer jewels, rare gifts and a new line of fur coats and jackets.

For only $24,000, the customer at Leo's can take home a 3-carat solitaire-diamond ring. Another $2,500 can add a full-length mink coat to the list while $25 of pocket change can net the buyer a 10-carat birthstone in a 14-karat gold band.

"These people are very knowledgeable of what they want. They are seeking service, and they will buy on impulse," the manager said. "If all of the other elements are present - quality, fashion, service, price - then these people will go for it."

A complete line of furs is the newest addition to the collection of merchandise at Leo's, a line that is hoped to interest even more consumers from the "new rich" group into shopping at the store. Why furs and jewels one might ask. Simply put, "They make the upper-scale buyers complete," according to the store manager.

"I think it's hard to think of the jewelry without the furs. The color of furs match the colors of the gemstones," the merchant said. "And, this marketplace does not have an adequate supply of fur dealers."

Wheels

Luxury autos have all the 'extras'

"The person who buys a Rolls Royce isn't going to drive it very much. And if they do drive it a lot, they will hire someone to drive it for them," explained Don Massey, owner of Don Massey Cadillac-Rolls Royce in Plymouth.

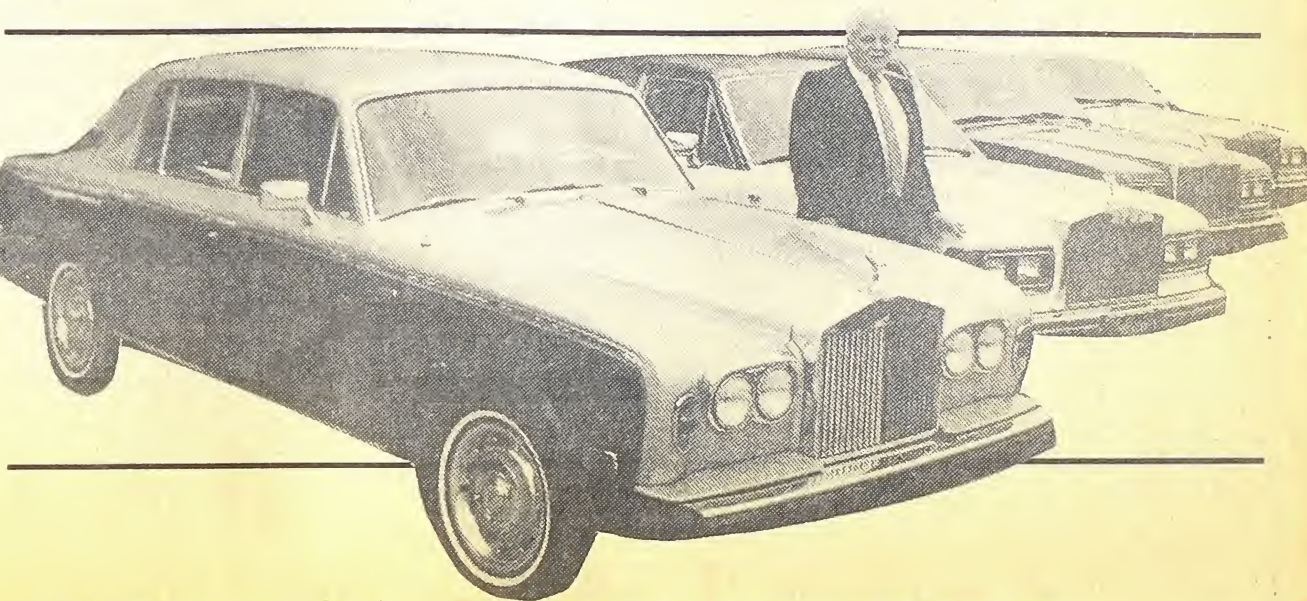

Massey admits that it is only the true rich - and not the upper-scale buyer - who will seek to buy one of eight Rolls models on his new car lot these days.

"We sell about 50 Rolls each year. These people want everything," said Massey. "I would have to say these people make upwards of a million dollars a year. Either that or they are the chief executive officers of major corporations who I am sure make a bit more than that."

And to be able to afford such a vehicle, they should.

The ultimate in luxury, Massey said, would have to be his $198,000 stretch limousine model complete with bar, television, stereo sound system, two car telephones, mahogany wood fixtures and a front-and-back air conditioning/heat unit which brings shame to the heating and cooling system of most every home.

Rolls buyers are cash lovers. Massey continued, and frequently lay down the complete payment for the car up front. If financing is the option, however, monthly payments range in the thousands of dollars each month.

Massey is the only Rolls Royce dealer in the state selling 50 of the 1,100 cars manufactured for the United States each year. Thus, the Rolls customers at the dealership travel from miles around to drive away in the ultimate in posh and luxury.

"I get a few celebrities coming in here. I just recently sold one to a very well known celebrity," Massey said. "But we sell quite a few to people who feel they are celebrities."

Unlike the Rolls Royce customers, Cadillac buyers are "the most interesting," Massey said.

"We get them from all walks of life - painters, plumbers, preachers - that's the exciting thing about it," Massey said.

But, on the other hand, he continued, Cadillac buyers require more salesmanship than Rolls customers.

"Rolls buyers are very astute buyers. They are very particular, and you don't do a lot of selling," said Massey. "In selling a Rolls Royce, you do a lot of catering because they are winners, and it's evident that they know what they want."

Warmth

Fabulous furs pieces boast style, practicality

Larry Christoff and his partners have been in the fur business for a combined total of 70 years. They will be the first to admit that the animal-skinned jackets and coats are only another part of the way of life for the luxurious-minded individuals who wield billfolds overflowing with countless fortunes.

But, they will also tell tales of practicality and affordability, affordability for almost every individual who never considered himself "rich."

"Five to six years ago, I would say all of our fur customers came from the upper-middle class. Right now I would say fur buying runs the whole gamut," Christoff reported. "We have made coats for 16 year olds and for very high-fashioned men and women. We're seeing a lot of gals buying their own coats these days . . . furs aren't only for the rich anymore."

Christoff explained that fur coats continue to serve as a status symbol of the "I'm successful" way of thinking. But, in addition to that symbol, the fur coat is now being considered as an investment, Christoff continued, an investment which can last almost a lifetime.

"I think fur coats have always been status symbols, but they have a practical standpoint as well. For one thing, it's psychological, it shows signs of success," Christoff said. "As soon as people put on a fur coat, I see their head pop up, their shoulders go back and their feet stand up straight. They feel good about themselves."

"It's like putting a driver in a Mercedes after he's used to driving a Pinto. But there's a practical point behind furs, as well."

Aside from the great amount of warmth they provide, furs are more durable than most cloth coats and can last many times 20 and 30 years, according to Christoff. Thus, he said, the initial investment in a $2,000-$3,000 fur coat ($10,200 for the best of the best) can pay for itself within 10 years time, the same amount of time in which 10 cloth coats would have been purchased.

But then again, the ritzy way of thinking doesn't seem too concerned with practicality. Why not have two, three or four mink coats, a stole, hat, hand-warmers and ear muffs as well?

Ah, the rich life. Expected behavior for the truly rich in the wallet. Expected credit card bills for the rich at heart who delight in occasionally putting on the ritz.

Wants

Classics make valued collections

Many of the customers at Georgia's Gifts in Plymouth can afford to shell out $3,500 for a pewter figurine or lithographed piece of art.

Others may spend $200 or more for a porcelain plate with depictions of movie characters or nature scenes embellished upon them.

But still others opt for a $4.99 Christmas ornament and are able to walk away saying that they have shopped in one of the most exclusive gift galleries the area has to offer.

Mike McCarty, vice president of the company, said his business is dependent on the human urge to have luxuries, trinkets and oddities that otherwise have no relevance to the everyday need for survival. Some call such buying habits "investing," others term it "recreation," while McCarty calls it an income.

"Buying a plate or a rare figurine can be an investment. It doesn't take up much space, and it's easy to liquidate because of its size and shape," McCarty explained. "People buy them as gifts or collect them as hobbies."

McCarty's store in the historic and luxurious Old Village of Plymouth is quaint in its atmosphere and personal in its service. All of the shelves of the store are packed with porcelain plates, pewter, silver and ceramic figurines and oddity trinkets that delight many hearts.

While shying away from calling the store one for the rich or the upper-class buyer, McCarty admits that his goods are only affordable for the economically stable. But as for who could be grouped into that classification of economic stability, McCarty was not too certain.

"I have customers that are 5 years old and go all the way up to 97," McCarty said. "And my customers aren't just female - some of my best customers are men."

Perhaps it would be safe to dub the store one where luxuries abound and where pocket change can be emptied. However, those luxuries aren't solely for the wealthy as lay-away plans and charge cards make living in the ritzy lane a little closer to home.

low down the road.

"People today are spending to their expectations. If they are counting on making $100,000 a few years from now, then they are going to start spending to that level right now," said a local merchant. "Business right now is so far up that we can't find a single period in our 20-year history which is better."

U.S. Census Bureau statistics seem to support those beliefs with figures pointing to a bigger and brighter economic picture as well as larger spending habits for most cities in the western Wayne County area.

For comparison, of the local communities, residents in the city of Belleville lead the area in per capita income levels with a reported $10,329 for each resident. Canton Township follows close behind with a per capita income of $9,197, as do

Van Buren Township ($9,055), Westland ($8,308), Wayne ($7,768), Romulus ($6,892) and Inkster ($6,7360).

But, although the incomes of residents in western Wayne County seem to be escalating, those same incomes are still a considerable way behind the northern suburbs and cities ending in the word "point" with Bloomfield Hills residents boasting of a $35,129 per capita income level, Grosse Pointe Farms with $21,685, Grosse Pointe Park with $13,271 and Grosse Pointe Woods with $13,808.

Nonetheless, a difference in per capita income doesn't necessarily mean a difference in spending habits. And testimonials from a few local business people seem to support the rags to riches stories in the local area.

Rotarians celebrate

Westland Rotarians marked the 20th anniversary of the chartering of the area service organization with an Oct. 3 dinner at Leight's Restaurant in Westland.

Guest speaker was H. William Ives, past director of Rotary International and past trustee of Rotary Foundation. The Westland club was chartered on Oct. 20, 1966, and currently has 30 members.

Master of ceremonies for the evening celebration was Len White. The invocation was given by Jeff Bemesterfer and toasts were offered by Jack Glyshaw, Harold Rediske Jr. and Les Linton. Music was provided by Nadia Marks.

Charter members of the Westland Rotarians, honored

Dr. Elmer Goerke of Romulus, who has 40 years of perfect attendance, was one of the original Rotarians who helped charter the Westland Club with Bill Detweiler and Ted Kuckelman 20 years ago.

Current president of the Westland Rotary Club is Jeff Juenemann.

Krystyniak – Foster

Mrs. Marjorie Krystyniak and the late Edward Krystyniak of Belleville have announced the engagement of their daughter, Christine, to Michael H. Foster of Greeneville, Tenn. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Foster.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Lansing Community College. She works for a district court in Greeneville.

The groom-to-be is a graduate of the University of Tennessee and works at Ball Zinc of Greeneville.

The two are planning an Oct. 25 wedding in Greeneville.

Christine Krystyniak – Michael H. Foster

just married

Oben – Demmer

Linda Jean Oben of Birmingham became the bride of James Charles Demmer of Northville during a June 20 ceremony at Holy Name Catholic Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Oben of Birmingham. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Demmer of Dearborn.

The new Mrs. Demmer is a graduate of Michigan State University. Her husband is a graduate of the Northwood Institute and is associated with the family firm of Jack Demmer Ford.

Following the wedding ceremony, a reception was staged at the Oakland Hills Country Club.

Mr. and Mrs. Demmer traveled to Hawaii for their honeymoon and will make their new home in Northville.

anniversaries

Dittmars – 50 years

Mr. and Mrs. William C. Dittmar of Chelsea, formerly of Wayne, celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary recently with a celebration at the First Baptist Church of Wayne.

The two were married July 25, 1936, at the home of the bride's parents in Wayne. They raised five children, James Dittmar, Janet McPherson, Judith Fidh and Jeab LaJoy.

They also are the proud grandparents of 10 great-grandchildren and two great-great-grandchildren.

The Dittmars enjoy fishing, gardening, bowling and traveling. They also are members of the First Baptist Church of Wayne, a senior citizens group and the Chelsea Historical Society.

The couple was honored with a "This is Your Life" presentation and a buffet dinner. They also received greetings from President Reagan.

Both are graduates of Wayne Memorial High School.

Koronas – 60 years

Former Romulus residents Walter and Kate Korona celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary this year with a renewal of their marriage vows at St. John Catholic Church in Fenton.

The two were married May 8, 1928, at St. Stephen's Catholic Church in New Boston.

For the occasion, their children surprised them with an anniversary celebration at the Fenton Township Community Center.

The Koronas have 19 grandchildren and 25 great-grandchildren. Music was provided by a grandson, Robert Michniewicz, who has his own dance band and a great-granddaughter, Tammy Michniewicz. The dinner was pot luck and included a wedding cake.

The two lived on Vining Road in Romulus from 1926 to 1943 in a home they built themselves dur-at that time worked at the Cadillac Motor Co. while Mrs. Korona worked at Kaier-Frazer and later retired from the firm.

They currently reside in Fenton where they are active in several senior citizens groups and will soon be making their new home at the Dauner Haus for senior citizens.

Women take to weights to firm bodies

By JOAN MARY DYER
ANP Staff Writer

If grandma had said she was "pumping iron," she probably would have meant pressing the family laundry. Today, however, women of all ages are working with weights to tone and shape their bodies.

Michelle Fox, an instructor at the Wayne-Westland Family YMCA, finds that most of the women in her classes work with weights to firm up while dieting or to tone up the inches they have.

"Women like working out with the weights because they can see results faster," Fox said. "They are serious about what they are doing and at the same time they enjoy it."

According to Gayle Oz, she has achieved a quarter of her weight loss goal during the past few sessions and is pleased with the "toning up" process. She chose the program because of the reputation of the instructor "who is a teacher, not a salesperson" for physical fitness.

Class member Carol Zeck, who gets more than the average person's share of exercise as a landscaper, works out not only to shape and tone but also to build strength for her job. Kathy Jacksey and Shelley Knoff also list "shaping and toning" as their reasons for working out with weights.

Fox, who has been teaching for three years, placed third in the Lady of Iron contest and earned the honor of "best arms overall" in the summer competition this year.

Farm is fun

Upland Hills Farm in Oxford is the site of a pumpkin festival each weekend through the end of October.

Among the attractions are horse-drawn hayrides, a country string band, a Halloween musical, haunted house, pony rides and farm animals.

The farm is located at 481 Lake George Road in Oxford.

She began working out with weights as a gymnast at Wayne Memorial High School when her instructor suggested the weights to help her perform well in gymnastics. Fox worked "on and off" with them for six years and then six months ago began to "work out consistently."

Fox was prompted to continue her workouts when she saw evidence of the changes in her body the weight work had done. Then, she said, people at the gym where she exercised coaxed her to enter the contest. Her wins, she said modestly, were "good for a first competition," and she plans to enter others in the future.

Fox, who is slender and attractive, dispels the myth that women who work with weights are not feminine. The only exception, she said, are women who use steroids which have a long lasting effect on the body.

In addition to teaching the Women and Weights Class, Fox also instructs preschool gym, adult fitness and gymnastics at the YMCA which is located at 827 South Wayne Road in Westland.

Information on the classes, which meet on Mondays and Wednesdays or Tuesdays and Thursdays, can be obtained by calling 721-7044.

Ghosts, goblins await youngsters

Ghosts and goblins will be ready for a Halloween preview on Oct. 24 when the Wayne-Westland Family YMCA sponsors an overnight event for youngsters in the first through sixth grades.

According to the Mary Rose Cartwright, program director, the "haunting" starts at 8 p.m. Swimming, games, snacks and a trip through the haunted house will be featured during the evening. On Saturday morning the participants will have breakfast at the YMCA and then be ready to be picked up by their parents at 8 a.m.

Cost for the overnight stay is $10 for members and $12 for non-members. Pre-registrations are being taken at the YMCA, 827 South Wayne Road, Westland, or by calling 721-7044.

Indian cuisine is the newest cooking rage

BY CHEF LARRY JANES
ANP Special Writer

Frequently, I get asked "What's the hottest food trend to hit the metropolitan area?"

Last year it was Thai and Vietnamese cuisine. The year before that, Tex-Mex and Dim Sum were the hot properties. So what's the latest rage coming into 1987? Indian cuisine!

The basic art of Indian cuisine lies in the careful blending of different spices to yield subtle variations in flavors. Curries form the mainstay of the Indian cuisine. A curry is basically a casserole of fish, shellfish, poultry, meat or vegetables cooked in a sauce, the flavor of which is created by the combination of flavors of the spices added during the cooking.

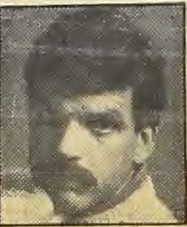

The origin of curries can be traced back many centuries. When there were no means of keeping perishable foods fresh, meat, fish and poultry rapidly acquired an unpleasant taint in the hot, humid Indian climate. Spices were, therefore, added to disguise the distasteful flavor of the main ingredient.

Generally the hotter the local climate, the greater the problem of food preservation and the hotter the curry. Before we go any further, if you don't already know, there is no spice called "curry." It is however, a blend of various ingredients that together form the flavor of "curry" as we Northerners know it today.

Regional differences in religion, culture and local produce have also influenced eating habits to yield an intriguing diversity of exotic, tasty dishes. The hottest curries come from southern India. Most of the inhabitants of this part of the country are Hindus, who never eat beef but sometimes eat other meat and fish. Vegetable dishes often form the main course of their meals, and many of the spicy vegetable curries and recipes for stuffed aubergines and samosas originate from this region.

Traditionally, the cooler North is associated with milder curries. The Muslim community is found mainly in the North and also around Bombay. Muslims will generally eat beef and lamb but never pork. Meat dishes such as keema pimento, kofta curry, keekh kababs and roghan gosht originally came from northern India.

When serving an Indian meal, aim to select a variety of dishes which complement each other in texture and flavor. Samosas and prawn puffs may be served as appetizers. Main course dishes should be served with a selection of sambals or side dishes. For entertaining, choose several main-course dishes based on a variety of main ingredients and with different amounts and combinations of spices. Freshly cooked chappatis, puris and pappadoms are delicious accompaniments. Complete the meal with a refreshingly cool finale such as gulab jamon or jelabis. The creams and cardamoms used in desserts and in some main course actually have a cooling effect from the sometimes incendiary flavor of the curry. If you prefer, you can prepare your own curry powder.

If you are interested in learning more about the fascinating world of Indian cuisine, pick up a copy of Madhur Jaffrey's Introduction to Indian Cuisine or any of her three different cookbooks on the subject. Bon appetit!

CHAPPATIS
(Makes 8)

2 cups wholewheat flour
pinch of salt
2/3 cup water (approximately)

Put the flour and salt into a large bowl and mix. Make a well with a hollow in the center and slowly add the water, mixing after every addition to make a firm, soft dough. Knead well for 15 minutes. Divide into eight portions. Roll each into a circle, sprinkling the rolling pin with flour to reduce sticking. Fry each chappati in a very hot east iron frypan without fat. When the top surface shows signs of bubbling, turn the chappati over and cook for 30 seconds. Place under the broiler until it puffs, about 1 minute. Spread with butter and fold. Serve hot.

BHUNE KAJU
(Spicy Indian Cashews)

2 cups raw cashew nuts
2 tablespoons butter
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon cayenne pepper
1/2 teaspoon cumin powder

Fry the cashew nuts in the butter over moderate heat until they are golden brown. Drain on paper towels. Combine the spices and sprinkle over the nuts. Toss gently. Serve hot or cold.

SHRIMP CURRY
(Serves 4)

1 onion, chopped
3 tablespoons oil
1/2 cup shredded coconut
1/2 teaspoon tumeric
1 teaspoon mustard seed
1/2 teaspoon chili powder
3 tablespoons plain yogurt
5 cloves garlic, crushed
1 cup water
1 lb. shrimp, peeled and deveined
juice of 1/2 lemon

Fry the onion in the oil in a large frying pan until golden. Then add the remaining ingredients except shrimps and lemon juice. Cook for 10 minutes, stirring occasionally. Add the shrimps and lemon juice and cook for 10 minutes. Serve with rice.

TANDOORI CHICKEN
(Serves 4)

2 lb. chicken, cut up marinade:
juice of 1 lemon
1/2 teaspoon ground coriander
1 small piece gingerroot
3 tablespoons oil
1 glove garlic, crushed
1teaspoon paprika
1/2 teaspoon salt
fresh black pepper
sauce:
1/4 cup butter
1/2 teaspoon sugar
1 tablespoon coriander
1 teaspoon salt
1 lb. tomatoes, skinned, quartered
1/4 cup heavy cream

Wash, skin and thoroughly dry the chicken. Make cuts all over the chicken. Mix the ingredients for the marinade and rub the mixture over the chicken pieces. Allow to marinate, refrigerated overnight, or for at least 4 hours.

Place the chicken pieces in a baking pan. Baste with the oil. Cook at 400 degrees for 30 minutes, basting with the juices. Combine remaining ingredients except cream to make the sauce. Blend in blender until smooth. Cook, uncovered for 15 minutes. Remove from heat and stir in the cream. Add the cooked chicken pieces and heat but do not boil.

(Tomato can be omitted, if desired.)

MUSHROOM CURRY
(Serves 8)

2 onions, chopped
3 tablespoons tomato puree
1/2 teaspoon ground cloves
2/3 cup plain yogurt
1/4 teaspoon chili powder
1/4 cup butter
1/2 teaspoon ground cinnamon
4 cups mushrooms, sliced (1 lb.)
1 cup bouillon

Fry the onions in the fat until golden. Add tomato puree, cinnamon, cloves and cook, stirring constantly for 5 minutes. Add mushrooms and a few drops of water. Cook, stirring until the vegetables are lightly browned. Add the yogurt and cook 3 minutes. Then, add the stock and simmer 10 minutes. Add chili powder and sprinkle with salt and peper to taste.

FRESH CUCUMBER CHUTNEY
(Serves 6)

1 cucumber
juice of 1/2 lemon
1/4 teaspoon chili powder
few drops of vinegar
salt to tast

Peel the cucumber and slice thinly. Mix the lemon juice, chili powder, vinegar and salt and sprinkle the mix over the sliced cucumber. Cover and chill before serving.

Cafeteria cook tempts taste

The cafeteria at Romulus Junior High School is always packed with hungry youngsters at lunchtime. More than 300 students stand in line each day to sample the fare prepared by veteran head cook Vi Willaby.

She began her culinary career in 1957 when she was asked to join the staff. Her two daughters, Charlotte and Carol, were young at the time, but school officials called her, and she's been working ever since. She worked as cook's helper and 12 years ago was promoted to head cook.

"I had only cooked at home before, and I never even worked in a restaurant," said 62-year-old Willaby who now not only prepares the main dishes, but plans the weekly menu and does the ordering.

"We used to make everthing from scratch. We would start kneading the dough for pizza on Monday and by Friday all the ground cheese, sliced pepperoni and sauce was prepared. We made it all from scratch. Today, the catering services of Greyhound assist us," she noted.

Over the years, changes in the kitchen were necessary to meet the changing appetite of the students. "Nowadays, kids only like fast food. French fries are our biggest seller," said Willaby who added tacos, hamburgers, hot dogs and even lasagna to the list of things teens like today.

Willaby and her co-workers prepare at least 350 daily noontime meals for Junior High School students. They also make 150 lunches for the Headstart program in Romulus. "We're busy," she conceded.

"At home, my husband, Jim, does most of the cooking. He likes steaks, potatoes and salads," she said. Her family now includes four grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

"When you cook in such large amounts, everyday for so many years, the job is just second nature. I guess I just like kids."

The following are the top two favorites of students at Romulus Junior High School:

TACOS

2 1/2 pounds hamburger
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 pound dry taco seasoning
1/2 cup water

in the kitchen with
Vi Willaby

Ground American cheese
Diced tomatoes
Shredded lettuce
Taco shells
Taco sauce

Cook hamburger and drain off excess fat
Put in mixer and beat fine along with the salt

Cook mixture in frying pan with taco seasoning and water for 30-35 minutes. Ready!

Then put hamburger minxture inf taco shells with cheese, lettuce and tomatoes. Add taco sauce.

APPLE CRISP

Topping 1 quart apple pie filling
1 quart applesauce
Mix together, let stand.
Bottom layer
3/4 pound brown sugar
2 cups flour
1 cup butter
1 1/2 handful of oatmeal

Mix all ingredients together and place a small layer on the bottom of a greased 9 X 12 pan. Then pour the mixture of apple filling over this and top with the remaining dry mixture. Bake for 25-30 minutes or until golden brown. Delicious!

Wayne keeps Belleville gridders winless

Belleville was just what Wayne Memorial needed to pull out of its football doldrums.

After two successive heart-breaking losses, Coach Chuck Howton and his Zebras outplayed Belleville 27-6 on a soggy field Friday night to post their first Wolverine "A" Conference victory of the 1986 campaign and lift their over-all record to 3-2 (1-2 in the conference).

However, the loss left first year Belleville Coach Dave McCarney and the Tigers still without a victory in five starts. They hope to remedy that Friday night at Wyandotte.

"Wayne dominated us,"

McCarney said. "They basically controlled the game, though, at times we did play well. But they made the big plays and those plays didn't materialize for us."

The Tigers averted the shut-out in the last quarter thanks to a 13-play, 80-yard drive that was capped by quarterback Steve Ostrowski's 14-yard touchdown pass to tight end Ray Lewis. Scotty Janack's attempt for the extra point missed the uprights.

McCarney compares Wyandotte as a "team similar to ours in many respects."

"Their (Wyandotte's) offensive and defensive lines are big, but they are also trying to put a program together just like we are."

Wayne's defense was credited with the first score of the evening when Ken Czajkowski, the fine junior "monster" back, intercepted a Belleville pass and raced 50 yards down the sideline to paydirt. The play occurred on the Tigers' fourth offensive play of the contest. Quarterback Doug Quartuccio provided a 7-0 advantage with his successful conversion.

The Wayne offensive team also reached the end zone when, with 18 seconds remaining in the initial stanza, tailback Darren Tatum tallied from 12 yards out. Quartuccio again converted to culminate the 60-yard scoring drive. It took nine plays to get into the end zone.

The Tiger offense, behind the passing of quarterback Steve Ostrowski and the running of Dan Brown moved the ball well. However, a key defensive play by the Zebras' defensive end Coty Nunley and an end zone interception by safety Mike Heard halted the potential Belleville scoring drives.

At halftime, the scoreboard showed a 14-0 Wayne advantage.

Midway through the third quarter, Heard gave the Zebras excellent field position as he returned a Belleville punt 20 yards to their 35 yard stripe. From there, Quartuccio engineered a snappy six play drive that saw the speedy Tatum again score, this time from three yards out to up Wayne's lead to 20-0.

Quartuccio's string of successful converts ended as his kick was blocked.

On the first play after the ensuing kick-off, a Tiger fumble was retrieved by the Zebras' David King, the 6 foot, 200-pound defensive tackle, at the host's 25-yard line. A pass to Tony Robertson for 20 yards put the ball at the five yard marker. On the next play, Tatum scored his third touchdown of the game. The extra point was perfect and Wayne's margin was upped to 27-0.

The Tigers did not give up, however, and launched an 87-yard scoring drive that ended with Ostrowski teaming with Lewis on a 20-yard strike with about six minutes remaining in the contest.

Lewis Davis provided some excitement as he returned the following Tiger kickoff 62 yards to the Belleville 21 yard line. The Zebras couldn't convert this opportunity as the Tiger defense held. Davis registered Wayne's fifth defensive turnover with an interception in the contest's closing minutes.

Rockets on target for Homecoming

By KEITH DeMOLAY
ANP Special Writer

The defense popped like the giant toaster on the sophomore class float, the passes of quarterback Steve Hawley floated like the balloons from the senior float, and the scintillating catches of Mike Hammon-tree fell into place like the crown on homecoming queen Juli Henson's head at Friday night's Homecoming game between the Rockets of Westland and John Glenn and the Spartans of Livonia Stevenson.

In that methodical fashion, the Rockets defeated a scrappy and pass-happy Stevenson club, 24-12, to forge a three-way tie for the Lakes Division title between themselves and North Farmington. North also posted a key victory. "It was good to see our players play so well after the tough loss the week before," said Coach Chuck Gordon, whose parents made their annual Homecoming pilgrimage from Central Lake to be at the game. "You're never sure how a team will react coming off a tough loss. I'm proud of the way this team reacted."

For the Rockets, the victory raised their Western Lakes record to 2-1, 4-1 over-all. Stevenson dropped to 2-2 in the league, 3-2 over-all.

Both teams started the game as if it were to be a titanic defensive struggle. Stevenson moved the ball well on its first series of downs as Geoffrey Klix picked up 22 yards and quarterback Pete Mazzoni completed two passes on the drive. But Glenn held and forced Stevenson to punt.

Two series of downs later, the Rockets got the ball back when Stevenson was forced to punt again and Greg Bates returned it 22 yards to the 45-yard line. Using a good mix of plays, Glenn moved the ball downfield. Bates caught a pass for 10 yards. Paul Beasley went seven and Hawley drew Stevenson offside twice for crucial first downs. Finally, Brian Wolf dove over from the one for the touchdown. Tony Svaluto's toe provided the extra point.

Twenty seconds later Glenn had the ball again when Hammon-tree picked off his fourth pass of the year. But Stevenson held and Glenn was forced to punt. However, the Spartans were called for defensive holding and the Rockets maintained possession of the ball.

Hawley took the snap from center, dropped it, retrieved it and fired it down the right sidelines to Hammon-tree who caught it behind two defenders and raced for the score. Svaluto added the point-after, and Glenn led 14-0.

Then, Stevenson went to work behind the running of Klix and Mark Durkee. A 26-yard first down pass to Eric Johnson set up John Economu's four-yard touchdown run. But the Spartans' attempt for the two-point conversion fell short, and they trailed, 14-6.

"It was disappointing (that they scored) because it let them back into the game," Gordon said. "It made the challenge of the third quarter that much greater."

Usually when the team that is trailing scores just before halftime it serves to fire up that team. It didn't happen here. After the Rocket defense - led by Pat Pettit's crushing knockdown of a pass at the goal line - stopped the Spartans, the Rockets took over and made their move again. Two passes to Hammon-tree netted first downs, as did a quarterback sneak by Hawley.

Finally, on the 11th play of the drive, Hawley found Hammon-tree in the end zone for the score. For the 6-0 receiver, the scoring pass was a historic one: it enabled him to tie a long-standing record of five career touchdown passes held by Brad Jennings, Jeff Meixner, Rick Hassen, Jim Irwin, Mike Dest, and his own brother, Chuck.

"Mike's having a great year for us," Gordon said. "He's given great leadership, practices hard everyday and on top of that, he's a gamer."

Even before the fans could sit down and catch their breath on this damp night, Glenn had the ball again when Gary Cloud intercepted a pass and returned it 18 yards. But the Spartans stopped Glenn and out came the Rockets other offensive weapon, Svaluto, to attempt a 24-yard field goal. As the ball sailed through the uprights, another Glenn record fell as the 6-1 kicker became Glenn's all-time field goal kicker with 10. He erased Chris Piazza's mark from the record book. Piazza is presently doing his thing for Saginaw Valley State.

Glenn led, 24-6, and the pressure was easing a bit.

"Those two scores allowed us to again control the game," Gordon said. "We felt comfortable on the sidelines even though the victory wasn't quite wrapped up."

Now it was up to the defense to stop the Spartans' diversified offense. After a couple pass completions to Michael Derkowski, a fumble recovery by the Rockets stopped one drive, a sack by Chris Scheffer stopped another, and Mark Bauschat's interception stalled another drive. The Rockets picked off four passes on the evening, increasing the season total to 13.

"The secondary has played steady all year. It's an area we have been pleased with," Gordon said.

Stevenson added its second touchdown of the evening on a four-yard run by Durkee, but the two-point conversion failed and Glenn wrapped up a 24-12 victory.

Now it's Walled Lake Central's turn to visit Glenn. The two divisional foes meet 7:30 p.m. Friday.

"They're struggling a little bit," Gordon commented, "but have to do some improving and we're going to get after it."

Meanwhile, the Junior Varsity suffered its second straight loss, a 20-12 decision at the hands of Stevenson, despite a 56-yard punt return and 39-yard reception for touchdowns by Dale Yannick.

A milestone

Huron posts first victory over Monroe

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

No matter what happens the rest of the 1986, New Boston Huron's football team will go down in history.

Coach Tom Labeau's Chiefs destroyed Monroe Catholic Central, 42-6, for their second conference victory in as many weeks, but it also marked the first time any Huron grid club has walked off the field against Monroe CC cherishing a victory.

"We played one heck of a game," an elated Labeau said. "These kids have waited a long time for a victory like this. I believe that I can say this is a milestone in our program."

Monroe CC has been a perennial conference title contender and also made appearances in post season, Class B state playoff tournaments.

But the perennial powerhouse couldn't stop the Chiefs this time as Huron scored two touchdowns in the first quarter, added one more in the second then came back for eight more points in the third and 14 points in the finale.

Quarterback John Umin got the Chiefs going early as Huron took the opening kickoff and marched to the eight-yard line where Umin teamed with Rich Gubbini on an eight-yard touchdown pass. Jon Tackett then booted his first of five point-after.

Huron built its lead to 14-0 in the same period as Tackett culminated a midfield drive with a two-yard touchdown run. Monroe help set up the Chiefs' TD when its punter juggled the snap and was forced to fall on the ball at its own 40.

However, Catholic Central came back to narrow the margin with what proved to be its only touchdown early in the second period when Brent Orr found a cease in the Chiefs' defense and sneaked in from the two-yard line.

Before intermission, Huron got that TD back as Len Ziegler engineered a sustained drive that ended with Ziegler's three-yard touchdown sprint.

Monroe just couldn't stop the rampaging Chiefs in the second half. Tackett showed the way in the third period when his second touchdown of the evening, a six-yarder. He then chipped in the two-point conversion. In the fourth, Ziegler added a pair of touchdowns as he bolted through from the two and later from the three. Tackett kicked the final two point-after.

Umin looked unstoppable as he connected on 13 of 15 passes and one touchdown. Tackett rushed for 86 yards on 19 carries and also had two touchdowns. Ziegler who also had three TDs played an exceptional game on defense as a linebacker and Umin found enough strength to stand out as a free safety. Gubbini, when he wasn't making aerobic catches of Umin's passes - he had seven catches for 106 yards - was taking the ball right from Monroe's secondary's hands.

Huron returns home Friday night with a 2-2 conference and a 2-3 over-all record to clash with second place Grosse Ile, another club that the Chiefs have had their problems with over the years.

Inkster continues winless spin

For 12 quarters - that's three games - Inkster High has failed to find its way into the opposition's end zone.

"We haven't scored a touchdown since our first game against Battle Creek," said Inkster Coach Arnice James after his Vikings were shut out 28-0

Friday afternoon by defending Suburban Athletic Conference champ, Highland Park. "We have all kinds of problems out there, and we just can't seem to solve them."

Inkster hopes to apply the brakes to its skid on Friday when they travel to Ecorse for its next SAC game. The Red Raiders also are in a winless nosedive, but will have a homecoming crowd on hand to help pull it out of their spin.

"Obviously they are looking at us as a possible way of winning their first of the season and we're hoping that we can use them to pull us together. They will have the edge because they have homecoming and usually teams get up for that sort of festivity," James said.

Although Highland Park had little trouble turning back the Vikings, the Raiders did have their hands full dealing with Shawn Hayes who stood out for Inkster on defense at the "monster slot" and also came through at tailback.

Inkster will celebrate its homecoming a week from Friday when the Vikings host natural rival, Dearborn Heights Robichaud.

Ailing Robichaud faces Highland Park, Homecoming next

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

If River Rouge's surprising 3-0 overtime soggy victory Friday afternoon didn't boot Dearborn Heights Robichaud out of the Suburban Athletic Conference title race last week, then a loss Friday afternoon to Highland Park may accomplish that mission.

"There's little room for speculation," says Robichaud Coach Bob Yauck after his team's second consecutive defeat. "we can't afford another setback."

Highland Park comes to Robichaud Friday to take on the ailing Bulldogs who have now dropped their last two SAC encounters and are sporting a 1-2 league and a 2-3 over-all record. This is Robichaud's worst start in recent years.

Robichaud will be playing before a homecoming crowd on Friday, but that may be little consolation, however, to the Bulldogs if they don't get their offense out of neutral. They had ample opportunities to do so against the Panthers of Rouge but failed to cash in on them.

Before Rouge's field goal in overtime decided the game, Robichaud had come within two-yards of a touchdown thanks to Donald Mandell's pass interception. Mandell picked off the ball at the Rouge 19 and came up two yards short of the end zone. The Bulldogs quickly returned the kind Rouge gesture with a turnover of their own - a fumble that the Panthers recovered.

Robichaud also attempted a field goal in the extra period, a 25-footer by Ken Wood that fell short.

"We definitely had our chances to win, but didn't use them," Yauck stressed. "The rains did a lot of damage, but it rained on both sides of the field so there's no excuse."

Yauck gave Clint McDaniel an opportunity to start at quarterback against Rouge and felt that the experiment was worthy enough to repeat. "He (McDaniel) performed well and we may just continue with this experiment."

McDaniel unleashed several perfect passes that had touchdown written all over them but were dropped by his receivers.

Mandell, a linebacker, and tackle Ira Parker again distinguished themselves on defense. Parker counted five solos and four assists that resulted in huge losses for the Panthers.

Yauck believes that his Bulldogs will be playing the best team in the league on Friday despite the fact that Highland Park has also lost to Rouge.

"Highland Park is very physical, and they are going to be a real challenge to us. Despite their loss to Rouge, I still believe that they are the best team in the league this year."

Wayne wins own cross country invitational

With three of their runners finishing among the top 10, Wayne Memorial managed to hold off Livonia Franklin to capture its own cross country invitational on Saturday.

With the course submerged in water and made treacherous because of the recent rains, the over-all performances reflected the inclement conditions.

Taylor Truman's Carl Martin led the pack to the finish when he covered the 3.1 mile course in the winning time of 18:49, beating Belleville's Rob Gray across the finish line. Gray was clocked in 19:14, while Derrick Allen of Wayne posted the third best individual time of 19:15.

Wayne garnered 57 points, edging arch-rival, Franklin, by four points for the team championship. Belleville finished

Nodalsky rolls a perfect 300 game

Ken Nodalsky got off to a perfect start for the 1986-87 bowling season as he fired a 300 game last week.

Nodalsky's perfect score was registered in the Ford's mens league, and the Thursday night opener was electrified with a pair of happenings - one by Ken and another by Jim Gallagher.

Ken rolled superb games of 300-187-185 for 672 and ABC honors, while his friendly rival, Jimmy, turned in 268-265-185 for a fantastic 791 series. That series also earned for him ABC honors. He carded 32 out of 36 strikes needing only nine pins for a 800 series.

Notable this summer also was Sue Traver's performances. She became the star at Super Bowl. In the "battles of the sexes", Traver left only two pins on her 12th ball for a 298 game and took WIBC honors. She finished the night with 198 and 200 games for a 696 actual series.

Team-wise, Trenton finished fourth (95) while Taylor Truman and Livonia Stevenson were tied for fifth with 164, followed by Thurston (187), Garden City (223), Romulus (270), Allen Park (292), Dearborn Heights Robichaud (305), Taylor Center (320), and Taylor Kennedy.

In the meantime, state power Trenton captured the girls' division with 37 points. In the runner-up slot was Livonia Franklin with 64; Stevenson was third (74), Belleville (88), Westland John Glenn (245), and Wayne Memorial (167).

Kristen Zanetti turned in a 23:01 to win first place individual honors for Trenton. She was followed across the finish line by Franklin's Tina Koons (23:43) while Stevenson's Karen Kuphal crossed the finish line third in a time of 24:15.

Player of the Week

Steve Hawley

Connecting on five of seven of his passes, 6-2, 170-pound senior quarterback Steve Hawley provided the impetus for Westland John Glenn's 24-12 victory over previously undefeated Livonia Stevenson. Hawley hit Mike Hammon for two touchdowns against the Spartans to earn "Player of the Week" accolades. It was also a perfect Homecoming for the Rockets who are now 4-1 on the season.
